

Jamal Butt

CEO MedAdvisor UK

FRPharmaS

Jamal brings valued commercial, digital technology, and pharmacy experience, having spent more than 20 years in a variety of senior and commercial roles within UK Healthcare Organisations, including Boots UK.

He trained as a Pharmacist at UCL, London School of Pharmacy, and also studied at Oxford University Said Business School, he has experience and expertise in leading large healthcare transformation programmes across the UK, as well as an extensive network of relationships within the NHS and private organisations.

Over recent years, Jamal has headed up the UK Healthcare services wing at Celesio UK, which supports the creation of innovative NHS integrated services across primary, secondary, and social care and has also previously been Head of Pharmacy for Boots UK.

Jamal is currently the CEO for MedAdvisor UK, one of the world's largest SaaS digital medicines management platforms, whose goal is to help people make the best use of their medication.

Jamal is also a Non-Executive Director at Croydon NHS University Hospital and mentors several digital start-up companies from Cambridge University.

In 2018, Jamal was designated a "fellow" of the Royal Pharmaceutical Society, for his services to the Pharmacy profession.